Description

This elegant Florentine coffee table, dating back to the early 19th century, embodies the refined tradition of semiprecious stone inlay that made Tuscan workshops famous throughout Europe. The circular top is finely veneered with a rich variety of marbles, arranged to form a harmonious decorative design in neoclassical style, with floral and geometric motifs of great compositional balance. The top is in inlaid marble, the base is in white alabaster marble. The polychrome marbles, carefully selected and combined, create a striking play of colors that highlights the technical mastery of the artisans, capable of achieving perfectly smooth surfaces and extraordinarily precise details. The edge is finished with understated elegance, further enhancing the complexity of the top. The base,
