Material : Glass

Description

A miniature blue glass scent bottle with silver-gilt filigree mounts. English, late 17th century.

Measurements: 2.8 × 1.2 × 1.2 cm. Weight: 4.6 grams. Of faceted deep blue glass, this finely wrought miniature scent bottle is enclosed within an elegant silver filigree cage mount retaining traces of its original gilding. The domed screw-cap is similarly decorated with scrolling filigree ornament and fitted with a suspension loop, indicating that it was intended to be worn on a chain or ribbon. Particularly notable is the survival of the original clear glass stopper, a rare and desirable feature in objects of this kind. Delicate in scale yet refined in execution, the bottle is a characteristic example of late 17th-century English personal luxury wares.
