Description

Welcome to Les Merciers. We are pleased to present this elegant set of six antique crystal champagne coupes from the prestigious Baccarat crystalworks. This is the timeless Talleyrand pattern. Derived from the legendary Harcourt pattern, the Talleyrand retains its iconic flat-cut ribs but distinguishes itself with a circular base, giving it a silhouette that is both seated and very graceful. The crystal, of remarkable thickness and density, beautifully captures the light and offers that pure and lingering resonance, the unmistakable signature of the great French crystal houses. The flared shape of the coupe, highly prized during the Art Deco period, remains the most sophisticated and historically significant vessel for enjoying champagne. CONDITION & AUTHENTICITY: The set is in excellent condition. The crystal is crystal clear, with a brilliant shine, without any chips or cloudiness. As this is an older piece (predating the 1936 law), these items do not bear the acid-etched factory mark (one glass with acid-etched factory mark), as Baccarat used paper labels at that time, which deteriorated with use. The authenticity of the model and its provenance is rigorously guaranteed by our gallery. DIMENSIONS: Height: 8 cm DELIVERY & SHIPPING: We take particular care in packaging our antique glassware. Shipping is carried out under optimal security conditions (individual outer packaging, double-walled cardboard box, professional cushioning) with insurance covering the full value of the item. Personal collection is always possible and free of charge at our Toulouse workshop.
