Description

The piece features a white marble top, perfectly integrated into the structure, enhancing its sober and elegant character. The front legs end in carved claw feet, a typical element of the Empire style, giving strength and momentum to the overall design.

The upper part is enriched by a tilting mirror, both practical and decorative, designed for everyday use.

Below the top there is a central drawer fitted with internal compartments: pull-out open sections for small objects, two hidden compartments, and a mirror. These details reflect the attention to functionality and fine craftsmanship.
