Description

Anthropomorphic polychrome terracotta tobacco jar, numbered 939 in relief, depicting a grumpy old sailor with a pipe, but handsome and quite endearing nonetheless. Original inscription "Cherbourg" - Production attributed to L'Isle-Adam. Note: the beret forming the lid and several other parts have been reattached in the past (see photos), but these are barely noticeable when viewing our old friend from the front. A beautiful piece of folk art in its original condition with its period patina.
