

Japanese Tea Casket In Ebonized Wood With Inlaid Decoration - Meiji Period

480 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Width : 23,5

Height : 17

Depth : 17

Description

Japanese Tea Casket in Ebonized Wood with Inlaid Decoration - Meiji Period
Charming

Japanese tea casket in ebonized wood, decorated with polychrome inlays depicting a bird among flowering branches. The contrast between the dark ground and the colourful motifs gives the piece a lively and decorative presence. Inside, the fitted interior reveals a complete set of three small Imari porcelain jars. Two are fitted with stoppers, while the third features a full lid allowing wider access. The decoration, typical of Japanese Imari ware, combines floral and geometric motifs in a rich palette of reds, blues, and greens. Such objects, produced during the late 19th century Meiji period, reflect a taste for pieces that are both functional and visually appealing, often intended to attract through their

Dealer

Galerie dMdB

Carefully selected art of quality and originality

Mobile : +32476882717

De Merodelei 275

Turnhout 2300

decorative richness. Condition: excellent overall condition. Gallery view: A highly appealing ensemble, with a striking contrast between the restraint of the casket and the vividness of the porcelain. Equally attractive closed or displayed open.