Description

Signed Bronze by Boyer - Young Hunter with Game, Late 19th - Early 20th Century, Height: 35 cm. La Musardièrè presents an elegant bronze sculpture with a medal patina, depicting a young hunter holding his game in a composition that is both natural and idealized. Signed Boyer on the base, this work belongs to the grand tradition of late 19th-century French decorative sculpture, where the theme of childhood and nature is treated with sensitivity and refinement. The subject, inspired by antique figures and the Neoclassical style, evokes youth in direct relation to the natural world. The child, dressed in simple clothing, adopts a calm and confident posture, while the supple and harmonious modeling of the body testifies to true skill. The quality of the bronze, with its warm and deep patina, highlights
