Description

A refined and elegant French Art Deco mirror, dating from the 1920s, crafted from wood. It exemplifies the sculptural geometry and decorative sophistication that characterized the movement's early decades. With its shield-like silhouette, carved details, and warm gilt finish, this piece embodies the transition between late 19th-century ornamentation and the modern, stylized aesthetic of the 1920s. The mirror features a frame with harmonious contours, gentle curves, and tapered lines, creating a perfect balance of symmetry and movement. Carved floral motifs adorn the upper corners and lower ridge, adding a subtle decorative touch without overwhelming the clean geometry of the design. The warm gilt finish of the wooden frame emphasizes the mirror's architectural presence.

Made in France during the early Art Deco period, this mirror reflects the emphasis placed on high-quality craftsmanship and expressive yet restrained ornamentation. The sculpted details, fluted edges, and beveled glass testify to the craftsmanship of the period. The wood retains a rich patina, adding depth and authenticity.
