Description

An elegant set of four Danish dining chairs dating from the 1960s, representative of mid-20th-century Scandinavian design. These chairs feature a solid wood frame with clean, refined lines. The gently curved backrest is supported by an openwork back structure, characteristic of some Danish designs from this period. The tapered legs and slender proportions give the chairs a visually light appearance while ensuring excellent stability. The seats and backrests are upholstered in black vinyl, creating an elegant contrast with the warmth of the wood. With their minimalist aesthetic and quality craftsmanship, these chairs integrate perfectly into a mid-century, contemporary, or designer interior. Origin: Denmark Period: 1960s Frame: Solid wood Seat and backrest: Black vinyl
