Description

An elegant pair of Scandinavian chairs dating from the 1960s, characteristic of mid-20th-century Nordic design. These chairs feature a solid wood frame with clean, refined lines, resting on tapered legs that lend a light visual airiness to the overall design. The gently curved backrest provides good support and emphasizes the minimalist aesthetic typical of Scandinavian furniture. The seats and backrests are upholstered in mustard-colored velvet, a shade very representative of the color palettes of the 1960s and 70s, creating a warm contrast with the wood. The design of the backrest with its openwork frame is characteristic of some Danish designs from this period. These chairs fit perfectly into a mid-century, vintage, or contemporary interior and can be used around a
