Description

Piece No. C 23-0106. This is a ceramic box signed by Claude Agier Molinari, a French artist and active member of Ateliers d'Art de France. Her work is renowned for the singularity and diversity of its forms, as well as for the richness and captivating character of her visually intense glazes. The shape of this piece is distinguished by a base that defies any notion of stability. The box appears never to rest entirely on the surface, creating a subtle effect of controlled imbalance, as if suspended. The staggered volumes accentuate this feeling of tension between mass and lightness, stillness and movement. A textured exterior surface reveals a mineral, almost volcanic appearance, while the glazed interior, with its shades of turquoise blue, evokes an abstract landscape. This alliance between raw
