Description

Fine sideboard from the Lombard-Venetian area, dating to the 18th century, characterized by a gracefully shaped and subtly curved structure. The piece is entirely veneered in walnut and enriched with striking olive burl panels, selected for their rich and expressive grain, arranged within geometric reserves that enhance their visual depth. The slightly bombed front blends seamlessly with the curved sides, creating a balanced and elegant composition. The top follows the same paneled design, while the doors are arranged with a regular and harmonious rhythm. Interior fitted with shelves. Original iron hardware. Missing key, which will be newly made to measure. Overall in good condition, with minor restorations and small integrations. Showing typical age-related wear, including light
