Description

We present this unique and majestic black iron chandelier, dating back to the second half of the 20th century (circa 1980s), a visually striking piece thanks to its imposing dimensions. Its distinctive design evokes a sense of timeless elegance combined with a modern minimalist style. The chandelier has a characteristic balloon shape, or hot air balloon (as it is called in Italy), from which twelve arms emanate, each designed to house a light bulb, creating a balanced and symmetrical appearance that enhances its decorative value. The use of black iron throughout its construction not only recalls historical construction techniques but also lends a restrained grandeur, simultaneously imposing and refined. The choice of this material ensures durability, while offering a classic aesthetic that
