Description

Some objects do more than just decorate a desk; they define its authority. This splendid Tiffany New York paperweight from the early 1900s is a rare testament to artisanal excellence and period luxury. Crafted using the ancient and prestigious lost-wax casting technique, the piece features a mercury-gilt bronze structure of extraordinary brilliance. Every detail was subsequently hand-chiseled, giving the item a texture and precision that modern industrial production simply cannot replicate. Measuring 10x5x2 cm, the paperweight boasts a sculptural presence and impeccable tactile weight. The integrity of the work is guaranteed by its excellent condition, making it a secure investment for discerning collectors or a gift of immense prestige.
