Description

There are pieces that embody the charm of two different eras, merging ancient art with modern functionality. This table lamp, crafted from a precious wooden sculpture, represents a great opportunity for those seeking a decorative object that is both history and light. The heart of this creation is an 18th-century sculpture, masterfully carved from a single block of wood. The quality of the 1700s craftsmanship emerges in every detail, testifying to an artisanal mastery of bygone times. During the 20th century, this masterpiece was skillfully transformed into a table lamp of extreme class, capable of integrating elegantly into both classic settings and contemporary interiors looking for a "signature" piece. Standing 50 cm high, the lamp boasts harmonious proportions, complemented by a splendid
