Description

A glazed ceramic vase signed SISPA, a Savoyard manufacturer associated with the production of Émile Simonod (1893-1977). This piece features a beautiful, bulbous shape with a flared neck, enlivened by a stylized vegetal motif in relief against a deep blue background. The vase is distinguished by its highly characteristic glaze work, with significant gray, brown, and light glaze drips that structure the surface and give the vase a truly striking decorative presence. The decoration evokes a floral theme treated with a free spirit, showcasing a search for texture and contrast that is typical of 20th-century Savoyard ceramics. The SISPA signature confirms its connection to this sought-after production, prized for the quality of its glazes and its distinctive decorative style. This vase belongs to the
