Description

A contemporary two-panel folding screen depicting a dense intertwining of cherry branches extending across the entire surface. The blossoms, created using a textured technique with raised paper applications, display a three-dimensional effect, alternating white and red petals. The dark branches, defined by sharp lines and enriched with gilded details, stand out against the light background, creating a strong contrast. Black lacquered wooden frame. Period: Showa, second half of the 20th century. Dimensions: 58 × 181 cm. Condition: Excellent condition.
