Description

Pair of Louis XVI period carved and gilded wooden lamps. Originally candlesticks, they have been converted into lamps. The iron spikes have been retained for authenticity, covered by a brass tube. Exquisite carving with decoration of coins, water leaves, drapery, and fluting. The gilding appears to have been applied with a gold varnish. These lamps are in good used condition; there are some losses to the gilding and some chips in the wood, but this only adds to their charm. Late 18th century. New electrical system, pleated fabric shades. Shipping: EUR100 within France, EUR200 within the EU, and EUR600 for the rest of the world.
