Description

Description Karl Otto Hügin presents a finely detailed etching depicting a lakeside promenade populated with elegantly dressed figures walking, conversing, and seated beneath trees, with sailboats visible on the water beyond. Executed in a precise linear style, the composition uses dense cross-hatching and controlled linework to create depth, contrast, and a calm, observational atmosphere characteristic of early 20th-century European printmaking. The balanced arrangement of figures, architecture, and landscape elements reflects a structured, narrative approach that captures everyday social life with clarity and refinement. Artist Karl Otto Hügin (1887-1963) was a German artist known for his detailed etchings and graphic works. Artist Details Hügin worked primarily in printmaking, producing
