

Large 1st Empire Portrait Circa 1804-1815...a Young Bourgeois, Under Napoleon's Reign

700 EUR

Signature : École Française

Period : 19th century

Condition : En l'etat

Material : Oil painting

Length : 61 cm

Width : 50 cm

Description

Large & handsome 1st Empire portrait circa 1804-1815 depicting a young upper-class bourgeois, during the reign of Napoleon Bonaparte: his neat attire and mounted collar correspond to a style that was in vogue from the end of the French Revolution and designated elegantly dressed men as muscadins, merveilleux and other incredibles ... note: this canvas is unsigned, but its fine quality suggests the presence of an excellent artist, especially as the bourgeoisie of the time often commissioned the best portraitists: one is tempted to think of the manner of a painter like Louis-Léopold Boilly (1761-1845) but as this canvas was acquired in the Montpellier region, there is also the style of the painter François-Xavier Fabre who could make an excellent "suspect": comparison with

Dealer

Art-estim

Peintures anciennes

Tel : 0616905019

Mobile : 0616905019

340 Allée hameau de Rose

Chomérac 07210

these two artists with these two artists is at least a measure of the author's quality / research enthusiasts beware! - note some traces of old varnish (visible from the old varnish (visible from the plates) and slight missing parts here and there, with no real impact on the quality of the work, as it's quite basic to correct - canvas size (old lining) : 61 cm x 50 cm Old frame as is (missing & repainted) : 74 cm x 63 cm -ask me for other plates if needed -.