

Glazed Stoneware Vinegar Pot By Guy Baudat.

100 EUR

Signature : Guy Baudat.

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Sandstone

Width : 17 cm.

Height : 23,5 cm.

Depth : 16 cm.

Description

Typical example of traditional rural pottery. Heavily pyritized sandstone in shades of beige, brown and rust. Interior glazing. Fitted with two handles and lid. Original tap hole. Signed below one of the handles. Height: 23.5 cm. Width: 17 cm. Depth: 16 cm. When one speaks of Guy Baudat (born 1938), one immediately thinks of his monumental, allegorical sculptures installed in his fortress of Châteaubrun. But behind the artist lies a true craftsman, the last of France's oldest line of potters. As a gifted child potter, he joined the family pottery workshop in the 1970s, and set about perpetuating a veritable savoir-faire. "I set up in excellent conditions with the equipment left to me by my father and a large clientele". The Dampierre workshop employed some forty people who were proud to perpetuate

Dealer

Propos d'Art

Antiquité - Décoration - Galerie d'Art

Mobile : 06 38 61 05 62

43 bis rue Rempart Villeneuve

Perpignan 66000

the handmade, oak-ash-glazed stoneware fired at 1,300 degrees. "We're not into folklore, it's really rural pottery". The workshop supplied hundreds of stores in France and exported to the United States and Germany. The Dampierre pottery is now closed, but remains a symbol of the commune.