Description

Open-air scene depicting two female figures in a garden, busy picking fruit. The composition, with its free, vibrant brushstrokes, is in the Post-Impressionist tradition. The palette is dominated by blues and greens, enhanced by the bright red notes of the fruit, creating a luminous, summery atmosphere. In the background, a country house and a blossoming tree anchor the scene in a rural setting. In the foreground, a basket filled with fruit accentuates the rural character of the subject. Signed and dated lower left: Morère, 1934. Oil on canvas, framed in a period carved and patinated wood frame.
