Description

An important Lombard chest of drawers from the Bergamo area, dating back to the early 17th century, characterized by a solid, imposing structure and rich sculptural decoration. The piece features four large drawers on the front, embellished with elegant inlays and ornamental motifs in 17th-century style. The sides feature the typical, finely carved caryatids, a distinctive element of Bergamo production of the period, lending great artistic strength to the overall piece. The structure is further enriched with decorative carvings, feral feet, and a warm, deep patina. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:
