Oil on canvas by Jean-Baptiste Muratore, a French painter born in Menton in 1915 and died in Issoire in 1977. Good condition. Dimensions : 65 x 46 cm. Provenance : from the artist's studio.

Jean-Baptiste Muratore was a French painter of Italian origin. He was self-taught and discovered the Auvergne region thanks to his military service. In 1939, he went to war and contracted tuberculosis in Alsace ; he was treated at the Sabourin Hospital in Clermont-Ferrand. It was in this same hospital that he learned to paint, as his condition prevented him from working. The doctor advised him to spend his holidays in Vernet-la-Varenne because of its altitude, which was considered beneficial to his recovery. He painted near Issoire, in Sauvagnat-Sainte-Marthe, where he met a group of painters, including
