Description

A late 17th-century sculpture in the round depicting Saint Sebastian tied to a tree and pierced. The saint, depicted wearing a short robe around his hips, is tied to the trunk and a branch, with one arm raised as he gazes at the viewer, who is metaphorically piercing him with arrows. The sculpture is cast in the round and painted in polychrome, with painted sections restored. Note the restoration of part of the left foot and the lack of arrows. The item is in decent condition, showing some signs of wear. We try to present the item's actual condition as accurately as possible with the photos. If any details are unclear from the photos, the description will apply.
