Description

Louis XIII "X" crotch desk. The base rests on a turned fluted sheath form with a toupille base. The "X" crotch includes alternating flat and chamfer. In the center, a disproportionate toupille establishes the period. The molding is juxtaposed to the waistband. The top, also in walnut rests on a corbelled beak molding. The proportions and identical four faces make this middle table highly functional. Delivery possible not included in price.
