Description

Large, finely carved wooden frame, featuring two dragons facing each other in a rich, dynamic openwork design. The particularly detailed carving is evidence of high quality decorative craftsmanship, in an Asian taste much appreciated at the end of the 19th century. The set presents a balanced composition with three reserves, framed by a moving decoration of dragons and stylized motifs. This type of work may evoke certain productions from Indochina, particularly Vietnam, or Asian-inspired works made for the European market. Beautiful old patina of the wood, emphasizing the relief and finesse of the decoration. Note: traces of use and minor wear consistent with age. Good overall condition. Dimensions: 51 × 35 cm
