Description

Rare and superb set of eight champagne flutes in cut crystal, Tommy model, produced by the Cristallerie founded in 1586 and now part of the Hermès group. Created in 1928, the Tommy service has become a symbol of French art de vivre. Its emblematic decoration combines bevel cut, and pearls, and its star-shaped foot extends to the very center of the glass. Each flute requires the expertise of several glassblowers and cutters, over a period of approximately 10 working days. History The model Tommy was created to pay tribute to the British soldiers, nicknamed the Tommies, who fought in the First World War and were celebrated in the poems of Rudyard Kipling. It was a resounding success at the 1938 banquet held in the Galerie des Glaces at the Château de Versailles, where
