Description

A modern composition depicting the Virgin and Child on glass. This is a decorative panel in the style of a stained-glass window, created using paint and decals on glass; it is not a traditional, hand-assembled stained-glass window. The halo behind Mary and the Child creates a highly stylised, almost graphic effect. The faces are gentle and classical, whilst the lines surrounding them are more modern and abstract. The work is framed by a patinated metal frame which extends at the bottom rear into a triangular candle holder fitted with a candlestick at its end. 41 cm wide, 51 cm high and 28 cm deep. Mid-century religious art.
