Description

Large plan of Paris, published in 1705, showing the capital as it was at the end of the 16th century, with its growths from the beginning of the reign of Charles VII to the end of the reign of Henry III in 1589. It is presented in a 19th-century gilded papier-mâché frame. Overall dimensions: height 54 cm - width 64 cm. Sight dimensions: height 44 cm - width 53 cm. Interesting document. The plan, although slightly warped, is in good condition with very fresh coloring, while the frame is slightly distorted and shows some wear visible in the photographs.
