Description

A 19th-century French porcelain and gilt-bronze casket. This work of art is crafted from Sèvres porcelain. The panels, with a light blue background, are enriched by central medallions with fine, hand-painted, multicolored floral decorations. The structure is an imposing gilt-bronze (ormolu) mount, with elaborate Rococo-style details including plant and floral motifs, scrolls, and curled feet. These caskets were typically used as jewelry boxes or decorative caskets. Dimensions: height 19 cm, width 39 cm, depth 21 cm
