Description

Elegant pair of Louis XVI armchairs, Neapolitan in style, dating back to the late 18th century. The seats feature a finely carved wooden frame gilded with gold leaf, featuring rosette motifs and classical decorations. The backrests are medallion-shaped, slightly contoured, and connected to curved armrests that connect to the waist with curved uprights. The wide and comfortable seat is padded and upholstered in smooth white fabric. The tapered and fluted legs end in pointed tips, lending a sense of elegance and rigor to the composition. A refined example of Neapolitan neoclassical style, these armchairs represent a perfect balance between formal elegance and functional comfort, typical of production from the Bourbon area.
