Description

Elegant Louis XVI-style bergère from the 19th century, characterized by its straight, symmetrical structure and tapered, fluted legs typical of this neoclassical period..The wrap-around backrest known as "à oreilles" offers appreciable comfort while adding a handsome decorative presence. The carved wooden structure features a light-gray, subtly worn antique patina, revealing the wood in places and emphasizing its authenticity.The seat and backrest are upholstered in a red-striped fabric embellished with floral motifs, in perfect harmony with the classic spirit of the piece. The ensemble is both warm and refined.Good condition
