Description

Elegant pair of Louis XVI-style low armchairs known as coin de feu, dating from the 19th century. These seats are distinguished by their sober, refined lines, typical of the neoclassical repertoire: fluted uprights, carved connecting dice and harmonious proportions. The patinated wood structure features a beautiful, slightly worn finish, bringing charm and authenticity. The seat and backrest are upholstered in a blue toile de Jouy décor fabric on a cream background, in perfect keeping with the classic spirit of the ensemble. The armchairs rest on tapered and fluted legs, characteristic of the Louis XVI style. Good condition
