Description

Tuscan fireplace surround from the 18th century, crafted in finely carved wood and decorated with polychrome faux-marble finishes and gilded details in gold leaf. The architectural design features a bold moulded entablature and gracefully shaped side supports adorned with Baroque-style scrolls, typical of 18th-century Tuscan craftsmanship. The refined marble imitation and the elegant contrast with the gilded elements lend the piece remarkable decorative richness and visual impact. A high-quality artisan work, ideal as an architectural and ornamental feature for classical interiors, historic residences, or antique furniture collections.
