Description

Fauteuil modèle FS 134 by Guy Besnard for Free Span 1950's Fauteuil modèle FS 134 by Guy Besnard for Free Span, 1950's, with a light, highly graphic aesthetic. Light wood frame with curved arms and sloping base, typical of post-war French furniture. Seat and backrest upholstered in a discreetly padded fabric, comfortable and easy to read in any interior. The armchair features a reclining backrest with lateral adjustment, designed for relaxing use. A well-balanced, easy-to-integrate piece that immediately adds a mid-century note without being imposing. Guy Besnard is a French designer active in the 1950s, associated with a production oriented towards "modern comfort". His Free Span models feature sober structures, taut lines and simple mechanisms (reclining, ergonomics). His
