Description

Beautiful and precious wall-mounted cartel in 19th-century marquetry from the Charles X period in rosewood and lemonwood. Suspended from the wall like a large gousset watch, with its gilded dial featuring Roman numerals on an octagonal case protruding to present a star-shaped front with curved sides; the beautiful mechanism accessible from the back (period wire movement) winds up every week, sounding the hours and half-hours with its beautiful crystalline timbre of airain (a mixture of silver and bronze). A quality piece with a meticulous finish and fine marquetry. An authentic, original and decorative piece preserved from the passage of time, with an undeniable and refined presence, a beautiful everyday companion (you can hide the chime if you're sensitive to its call)...
