Description

Scandinavian teak armchair by Grete Jalk - Denmark, 1960s Superb Scandinavian teak armchair designed by Danish designer Grete Jalk in the 1960s. This model features an elegant, organic line, characteristic of Danish modernist design. The solid teak structure highlights a particularly successful work of curves, notably in the sculpted armrests and slightly sloping backrest, offering both comfort and visual lightness. The restoration deliberately revealed the armchair's original design by removing the fabric from the armrests, revealing the warm veining of the teak and reinforcing its sculptural character. Completely restored armchair in our workshop: Structure checked and refurbished Completely new foams for optimal comfort New upholstery with Casal fabric model
