Condition : Bon état

Material : Oil painting

Description

A pair of antique oil paintings on canvas depicting religious scenes within contemporary wooden frames. One depicts Our Lady of Sorrows, her face turned upward with an intense expression of pain and contemplation, suggesting a moment of profound spiritual suffering. The cross behind the Virgin symbolizes Christ's crucifixion, and a crown of thorns hangs from it, reinforcing the reference to the Passion. Two angels flank Mary: one on the left, dressed in shades of red and green, indicating the cross, and the other on the right, dressed in a white cloth, indicating Mary. Mary holds a white cloth in her hands, a symbol of weeping and mourning. The other painting depicts the Guardian Angel protecting and guiding a child in a dangerous situation. The Angel, with large outstretched
