Description

Large Aubusson rug from the early 20th century. Light in color, in shades of beige, tobacco and coral, our rug has a beautiful Louis XVI-style neoclassical decoration - scrolls and bouquet rosettes on a background of quartefeuille and in the center a trophy of wreaths of flowers au naturel.of wreaths of flowers au naturel.Aubusson has been recognized for the excellenceexcellence since the 17th century, for French carpets and tapestries.and tapestries. First Royal, then Imperial, then National,official palaces and the great families of the aristocracy.aristocratic families. An elegant object, a must-have for a grand French decor. The effect produced by XVIIIth century seats and furniture on a French carpet has nothing to do with an Oriental carpet.Good overall condition. The light colors
