Description

Pair of stools known as "Bauche", attributed to Charlotte Perriand - ash and woven straw seat Elegant pair of high stools known as "Bauche", attributed to the famous designer Charlotte Perriand, (with the Georges Blanchon workshops) a major figure of 20th-century design. These stools feature a sturdy structure in solid ash, with simple, functional lines characteristic of Perriand's work, where aesthetics derive directly from use. The cylindrical legs are linked by spacers forming footrests, ensuring stability and comfort. The seat, made from woven straw, offers a beautiful patina and traditional craftsmanship, bringing warmth and authenticity to the ensemble. The braiding is in good state of preservation, testifying to quality craftsmanship. The pure design, with its simple and elegant lines, is a perfect example of the craftsman's skill. The sleek design, both rustic and modernist, fits perfectly into a contemporary, mountain or chalet spirit interior, but also into a more minimalist decor. French work, circa 1950-1960. Very good overall condition, slight traces of use consistent with age.
