Description

Paris Montmartre. Lucien Genin. Gouache on cardboard "Rue Norvins" signed and located lower right Lucien Genin. Rue Norvins. 36 X 27.7 cm. French school. Lucien Genin (1894-1953). After studying at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Rouen, the young artist moved to Paris and settled in Montmartre. Here, he embarked on a career that was to pay vibrant tribute to this very special part of the capital, which adopted him. Our gouache is a perfect example of the work of this bohemian painter, whose talent was appreciated by a vast clientele during his lifetime. At Lucien Genin's, the cobblestones of Montmartre take on the appearance of a checkerboard, ready to become the favorite playground of local toddlers. But here, this checkerboard doesn't display sad colors,
