

Pair Of Modernist Armchairs In Steel And Nylon Strands

450 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Description

Contemporary armchairs inspired by major Italian and Mexican designs from the 1950s-70s -- particularly the Acapulco style and the tubular modernist seating by designers such as Franco Albini and Mexa Design. These pieces offer a fresh reinterpretation of the light outdoor furniture aesthetic of that era.

Each armchair features a sage green painted steel frame, woven with a nylon ribbon in a refined tone blending burgundy and antique pink. The regular weaving of the backrest and seat creates a graphic interplay of soft, airy lines.

Designed for use in gardens, terraces, or verandas, these seats are equally suitable for indoor spaces.

Condition: overall good condition; minor superficial marks on the painted structure.
