Description

A finely decorated antique Japanese Satsuma earthenware vase from the Meiji period (circa 1880-1900), of elegant baluster form with a flared neck. The vase is beautifully hand-painted with a dynamic scene of mounted samurai warriors in full armour, depicted in motion on horseback. The base bears a red mark with the characters ? (Kyo) and ? (To), indicating Kyoto production, along with the letters "F C C," which suggests it was a private commission made to order for a European customer.
