Description

"Ishtar" "Ancient Scriptures" collection Some details: The seal used dates from the Paleo-Babylonian period (1925-1595 BC). It is a black hematite seal. It shows a standing goddess, dressed in a kanakès, wearing a horned tiara, her hair up in a bun, raising both hands in front of her. Opposite her stands a warrior king, dressed in a short tunic, holding a staff of command in his left hand. The scene is organized in three-row cartouches, of which only one and a half rows are inscribed. The writing is a partial copy from a craquedine. The piece is referenced in the Louvre under number AO 101. It is a consecration to the goddess Ba'u. In this object, we discover a subtle combination of textures and colors. The lid, evocative of wood, is reminiscent in shape and feel of a small barrel. The soft enamel reveals a luminous heart at its center when opened - a signature characteristic of Claude's work. The underside also holds a surprise: when the piece is turned over, a celestial blue appears, framing the base and contrasting with a milky white. A particularly pleasing object to hold in the hand and contemplate. To be found at the Beauty Of Kilims boutique 8 rue Perchepinte in Toulouse. Shipment possible. Black and white mixed sandstone. Brushed glazes on seal and writing. Plate work and stamping. Firing temperature: 1230 °C. Height: 6 cm. Diameter: 12 cm. Weight: 400 g.
