Description

Grande statue de la Vierge Marie Immaculée Art Déco en plâtre début XXeThe beauty of French religious craftsmanship materialized in a plaster Immaculate Virgin during the Art Deco period (1910-1939), a period known for its geometric aesthetic. Rayonning with poignant realism, this large-scale Virgin (44 cm) is made from a renowned artistic plaster, that of a period known as the "Roaring Twenties", when despite a complex interwar economy, workshops, manufactures flourished in quality craftsmanship. This Virgin comes from a time when the European population envisioned a positive utopia, far from political wars & conflicts of interest. She stands proudly over the world, crushing evil (the serpent) with her foot, and opening her arms to believers, like the
