Description

Beautiful woollen tapestry portière from the Louis XIV period, depicting a goddess dressed in the Antique style in an undergrowth setting. Pretty portière or in-between format, easy to place, very good overall presentation, lined with a large antique canvas, clip system for hanging. Some old restorations in keeping with the age of the tapestry, but no tears or breaks. Some old restorations in keeping with the age of the tapestry, but no tears or breaks, and colors preserved and still fresh, make this a very classic decorative element. Work by the Aubusson or Felletin manufactures, late 17th century. NB/Transport at the purchaser's choice and expense.
