Description

Japanese six-leaf folding screen from the 19th century. Very attractive tabletop folding screen originally composed of leaves of prints on canvas. A very original and pleasing piece embellished with predominantly light-colored period prints giving a definite decorative and qualitative effect. Note the quality of mounting of the various leaves on wood with gilded brass protections on the edges. Decorative and varied scenes give a lively and original character. Excellent overall condition of colors and supports. Note the presence of a set of small gold leaves brightening up the whole. Possibility of delivery in France and worldwide by secure, insured package with order tracking. Invoice and certificate supplied. Pick-up available at Mas d'Avalrich Montéscot 66200 t 0611142533.
