Description

exceptional set of three Globe Wernicke London oak bookcases from the late 19th century-early 20th century from England. It's rare to find such a beautiful set with large elements. It's possible to separate it and make a pair and one all by itself. This can be interesting in a decoration. The bookcases are in oak and are composed of a molded base and top and 5 glassed elements. The glasses slide inside the cabinet and have brass handles. The bookcases have large elements which allows to put big books. They can be used as bookcases or showcase cabinet in perfect condition with a beautiful patina. The bookcases match perfectly into an antique or contemporary interior.
