Oil on panel depicting a market with many figures and beautiful colors by the painter Francesco di Marino, Naples 1892-1954. Size 25 x 18 cm, frame 56 x 45 cmFrancesco Di MarinoFrancesco Di Marino (Naples, 1892-1954) was an Italian painter of genre scenes, lively views, and coastal landscapes. A pupil of Cammarano and then Dalbono, Francesco Di Marino faithfully followed the tradition of fine plein air painting, in the wake of the landscape concept established in Naples by the Posillipo School. In this way, he came to associate himself not only with his direct teachers, but also with Casciaro, Pratella, Scoppetta, and then Galante, De Corsi, Villani, and Viti, gradually refining his expressive means and coming to characterize his work with immediacy of perception, genuine
